

TENTH CHARACTER

A 3D rendered illustration of three men with long, dark hair and beards, wearing simple robes. The man in the center is Peter, looking slightly to the right with a thoughtful expression, his hand near his chin. Two other men are visible on either side of him, looking forward. The background is a soft, hazy landscape with a blue sky and a yellowish ground.

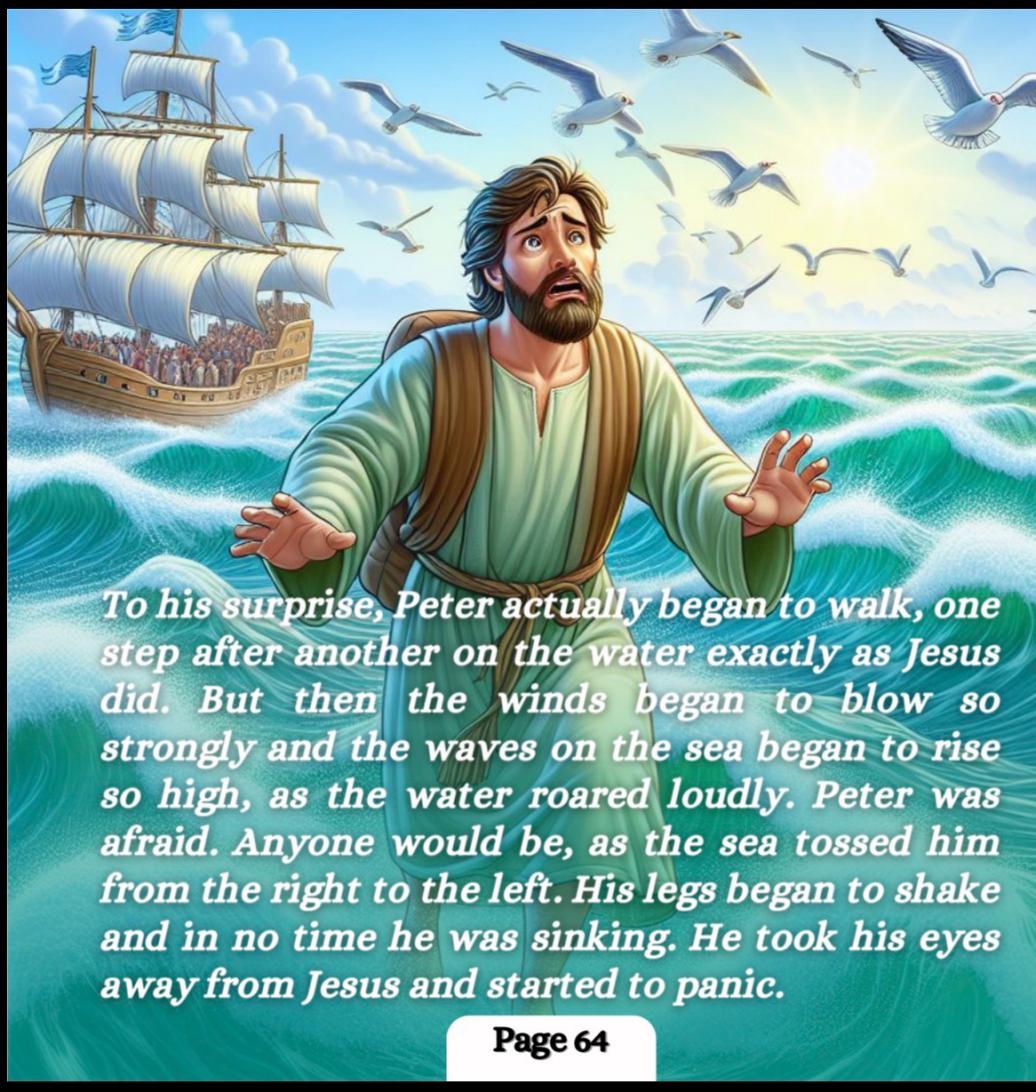

PETER
(Matthew 14 vs
22- 32)

Why did you doubtt?

“Why did you doubt ?” Jesus said as he reached out to grab a hold of Peter who was already sinking in the water. One midnight, The disciples of Jesus saw him walking on water and they were very scared. But Peter said to Jesus “Lord if it is really you, tell me to come to you on the water”.

As soon as he heard Jesus say to him “Come”, He became bold enough to also place his feet in the water.

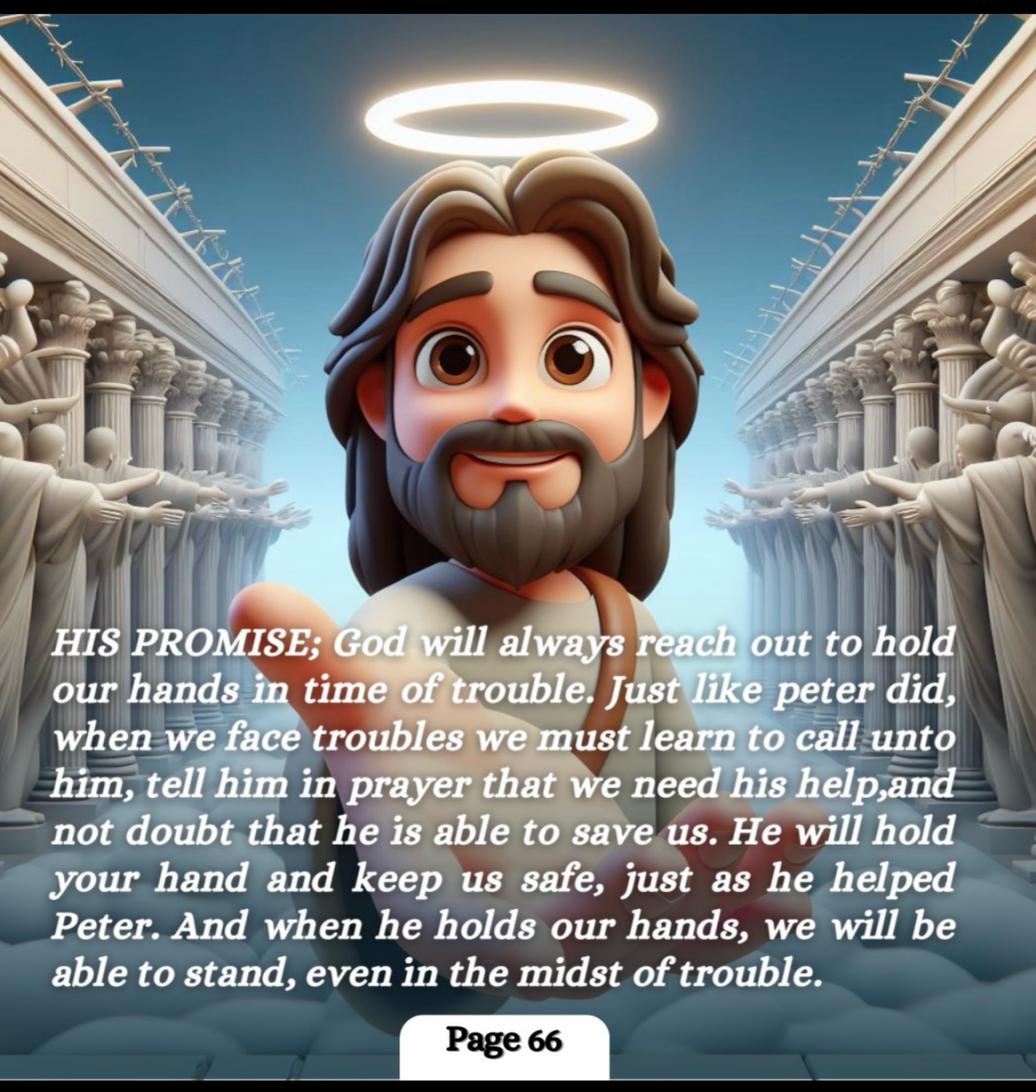

To his surprise, Peter actually began to walk, one step after another on the water exactly as Jesus did. But then the winds began to blow so strongly and the waves on the sea began to rise so high, as the water roared loudly. Peter was afraid. Anyone would be, as the sea tossed him from the right to the left. His legs began to shake and in no time he was sinking. He took his eyes away from Jesus and started to panic.

An illustration depicting the biblical story of Jesus walking on water. Jesus, with long brown hair and a beard, wearing a white robe with a blue sash, is shown walking on the surface of a dark blue sea. He is reaching out with his right hand towards Peter, who is in the water, looking up at Jesus with a desperate expression. In the background, other disciples are visible, some on the water and some in a boat. A speech bubble in the upper right corner contains the text 'Lord, save me'.

Lord, save me

Until he called for help. Stretching out his arms, he called on the one who was able to save him. “Lord, save me!” Peter cried out. And Jesus answered, he held his hand and pulled him safely into the boat.

HIS PROMISE; God will always reach out to hold our hands in time of trouble. Just like peter did, when we face troubles we must learn to call unto him, tell him in prayer that we need his help, and not doubt that he is able to save us. He will hold your hand and keep us safe, just as he helped Peter. And when he holds our hands, we will be able to stand, even in the midst of trouble.
